336/95

The following text is a dense handwritten document in Arabic script, likely a legal or administrative record. It consists of approximately 20 lines of text, written in a cursive style. The text appears to be a declaration or a formal statement, possibly related to the 'Y.A.H.M.S.' header. The handwriting is somewhat blurred and difficult to decipher in detail, but it contains several words that can be identified, such as 'بسم الله الرحمن الرحيم' (In the name of Allah, the Most Gracious, the Most Merciful) at the beginning, which is a common opening for Islamic legal documents. The text continues with various phrases and names, some of which may be signatures or titles of officials. The overall appearance is that of a formal, historical document.
