

Handwritten text in Ottoman Turkish script, oriented vertically on the page. The text is dense and appears to be a detailed report or administrative document. It includes various names, dates, and official terminology. The script is written in a cursive style typical of the late Ottoman period.

